Course Overview

The IOSH-approved Managing Safely Refresher course gives your managers, supervisors and staff a reminder of the skills they need to understand the risks surrounding health and safety and to run an effective health and safety programme. This one-day course refreshes what attendees already know, builds on that knowledge, teaches processes for putting managing safely into practice as well as explaining how to apply an effective management system.

Who is this course for?

IOSH recommend this course to anyone who has completed the full Managing Safely course and wishes to refresh their knowledge.

Delegates get to refresh their knowledge on the key parts of the full Managing Safely course by relating them to a plan-do-check-act safety and health management system, with leadership at the heart of it all.

Course Content

1. Thinking Back

This session will reflect on the content of the full Managing Safely course and discuss which areas participants would like to refresh their knowledge on. There will also be a recap of the key reasons for managing safely.

2. Leadership

Why leadership is important, and how to create a positive safety culture.

3. Plan

Looks at a safety and health policy, and what it includes. Delegates also consider how to deliver the policy.

4. Do

Delegates undertake a risk assessment exercise and then think about the best ways to communicate their findings, and the safety and health plan to the workforce.

5. Check

Takes a look at data types, what can be measured and how this helps in seeing if 'the plan' is implemented and working.

6. Act

Looks at why reviewing performance, acting on lessons learned and striving to improve continually is essential. Delegates then reflect on what they have learned and how they will use this in their workplace.

Successful delegates are awarded an IOSH Managing Safely Refresher certificate.
